

r/HFY · Posted by u/SupernovaSymphony 5 hours ago

Humans are Disgusting

OC OC

Heya. First post. I had this idea and I thought it would be funny. So here you go.

Humans are disgusting.

You seriously want to know?

Fine.

When humans stepped onto the galactic stage, there was a small buzz. The 38th intelligent species to discover faster than light communications and travel. Many species worked together to adapt the standard translation software to their odd and blunt language.

Not long after talk began happening, some of the species distanced themselves with the humans. We learned of their history, a short but brutal existence little over 12000 years, from agriculture to seeding the stars.

We learned of their wars, how bloody and greedy the fights were between each other. Petty grabs for power, riches and dominance over whatever they could consider "other".

But the humans that spoke to us, they were contrary to this history, peaceful, ravenous only for knowledge. They accepted any scrap of knowledge we would give them, coveting it more than anything else, treating it with care and curiosity.

We spoke to many humans, some were cold, and barely spoke to those on the galactic stage, keeping only to themselves.

Some were scientists, hungry for knowledge, happy to offer help any any field, granted they were given the chance to learn.

Some were kind, offering aid to those in need, establishing themselves as those who will go anywhere to help anyone in need.

In fact, they garnered incredible amounts of honour when a plague hit Delcerc homeworld, they were the first to respond. Their lust for knowledge had them finding a cure for the terrible sickness in mere months of their time. They never relented, and never asked for anything in return. The plague was eradicated before it could even make it offworld.

But after all this, you may be asking, 'why does she think humans are disgusting?'

Its is a simple fact. As we offered our knowledge, they gave us access to theirs. They had already created a vast network of knowledge over their planet, and in their systems, all connected with vast arrays of everything you could dream of.

And then we learned of their habits. They had, ugh it makes me feel like throwing my stomach up just thinking about it, they had, we don't even have a word for it. You know how the mammalian lsess have mating cycles, where they just get it out of the way once a year? Well the humans do not have these cycles. They are ready at all times to mate, and we found in their network an incomprehensible amount of material they call "pornography."

They had things dedicated to this ritual on any matter you could think of. Any way anything could mate, they had something they gratified themselves with. There were even materials of creatures like us! They were a fiction to them, and they used them for their disgusting desires. They had materials that resembled the Isess, despite having never seen them. We weren't safe from this perversion either.

There were creatures made by their artisans that resembled almost every single member of the galactic council in one way or another, but it never stopped there, their imagination is as vast as the universe, and equally as horrifying.

Any act that could be remotely related to mating, they had a video, and image, or an audio for. Anything.

And this is why I think they are disgusting. They accepted any contact from anyone who would talk to them, but who knows really why they were so eager.

Oh no, a group just wandered in. Lets go before they attempt their bizarre rituals on us.